

Types of criminal record checks	Footprint	Results	The benefits	Time frame
National Criminal Record Check	Across Canada	a) No criminal record b) May have a criminal record* (Does not provide detailed information related to criminal convictions)	Quickly determines if the candidate has a criminal record across Canada, all provinces combined.	24 hours
∴ Self-Declaration Option	Across Canada	After a regular criminal record check has been completed, this search will allow the candidate to declare the convictions included in their criminal record; the RCMP will confirm if the statements are accurate and complete or if they are incomplete.	Provides details on a candidate's criminal history allowing clients to make decisions based on facts.	24 hours
∴ Enhanced Criminal Record Check Option	Across Canada	In addition to a regular National criminal search, the Enhanced criminal record includes a search for outstanding entries such as charges which are before the courts, wanted person information, probation orders or prohibited person information contained within local (municipal) police indices.	This more comprehensive search is recommended for positions for which an advanced security clearance is required.	48 hours
∴ Digital Fingerprinting	Across Canada	This is the only definitive way to know whether or not a candidate has a criminal record at the national level. If a record exists, it gives access to the details of the criminal record(s).		If negative: within 10 days If positive: up to 120 days
Provincial Criminal Record Check	Province for which the check is performed	Indicates all offences for which the candidate has been convicted (in that province).	Provides all details of criminal convictions issued by the province within the province searched.	Varies by province: 2 to 15 days
International Criminal Record Check	Country for which the check is performed	Indicates whether or not a candidate has a criminal record and provides the details of the criminal record(s).	When a candidate has only been in Canada for a short period of time, this check can let you know their criminal background abroad.	Varies by country

*The national criminal record check is a search performed based on the name and date of birth of a candidate. If an individual with the same name and birth date as the candidate has a criminal record, it is possible that the result will indicate that the candidate may have a record. Only through fingerprint can we definitely confirm whether the candidate has a record or not.
